THE HISTORY OF THE “IBU” / “ABU”

When the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team returned to Japan from Korea, the 2nd and 3rd BN's were stationed at Camp Chickamauga, next to the city of Beppu. The companies in the 2nd BN started painting a picture of their mascot on the front eve of their mess halls, but the companies in the 3rd BN hadn't started to do that. E Company had an Elephant; F Company had a Fox; and G Company had a Goat, and their mascot was painted on the front of their mess hall.

Well, one night, after a 17 mile foot march from the Mori training area, the creator of the IBU, explained this to me. I Company Commander, Captain Robert I Channon; the Executive Officer; the 1SG; Platoon Leaders; Platoon Sergeants; and Platoon Guides were sitting in the Orderly Room. Cpt Channon said, we don't have a mascot—lets make one. However, they had a problem. The only animals that they could come up with—with a name starting with an I was an Iguana lizard, and a large scrawny-neck, with a long curved peak, a wimpy wading bird that couldn't fly--an Ibis—and rough-tough, gung ho paratroopers wouldn't dedicate themselves to an Ibis as a mascot. So, Captain Channon started the process by drawing a lion's head for fierceness, and then other things were added as others would suggest. Someone suggested a body of a Gorilla for power and strength; then an Alligator's tail was added, since the I Company Troopers were tough and hard to chew out—they had tough rear ends. Since a lot of the troopers had girl friends living in the city of Beppu—and the ladies were referred to as MUSAME—pronounced—MOOSE-AH-MAE. So, the antlers of a moose were added in memory of the ladies in Beppu.

In I Company, 187th, the unit motto was—I BEST UNIT==IBU. So, our mythical animal—our mascot—was named “IBU.” A sergeant in the company took our drawing to our Japanese handy-man, an artist and painter, and explained. The first picture prepared was so good, the officers and enlisted troopers fell in love with it, and the next day a painting of IBU adorned the front of I Company's Mess Hall building—and the rest is history.

Later, the 3rd BN, 187th returned to Japan, and still later, returned to Fort Campbell, Kentucky, and was de-activated on 17, July 1956, and the LAST company commander of IBU Company was, Cpt Robert Archie Rogers. When the 101st Airborne Division was re-activated on 17 July, 1956, at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, many of the Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs) of I Company were assigned to A Company, 327th Airborne Infantry Combat Group (AICG), thus, becoming the “FIRST” INFANTRY COMPANY activated in the new 101st Airborne Division.

The proud RAKKASANS NCO'S obtained the permission from the FIRST Company commander of A Company 1-327 AICG, Captain Robert Archie Rogers, to change the IBU mascot to ABU, and the rest is also history.

Overnight, those dedicated IBU NCOs changed the name of A Company to “ABU,” keeping their beloved mystical mascot, and when the sun rose the next morning, in front of ABU Company's mess hall, Building 6930, on 42nd Street, there stood the 10 feet tall ABU mascot. The rear walls of platoon-bays displayed a large ABU painting, and many ABU tattoos appeared on the left calf of young, new, ABU paratroopers joining the ranks of older combat tested IBU's.

On 21 September, 1956, the 101st Airborne Division (Pentomic) was re-organized into five BATTLE GROUP, and it wouldn't be long before the world would be cognizance of what was to come-- the LEGENDARY – ABU PARATROOPERS.

On 29 July, 1965, the first Screaming Eagle Paratrooper, since World War II, was awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge (CIB), which was 2Lt. John Dalton Howard, 3rd Platoon Leader, ABU Company, 1-327 Airborne Infantry, 1st BDE (S), 101st Airborne Division.

In August, 1965, Sergeant Paul D. Shamp, Jr., 1st Squad, 1st Platoon, ABU Company, recorded the first enemy killed in action for the 101st Airborne Division in South Viet Nam.

Currently, the mascot for A Company, 327th Infantry (Air Assault) is still an ABU, however, its appearance is different. He's a change of the times. Now, ABU and his troopers arrive onto the battlefield in helicopters, instead of by parachutes, however, ABU troopers still possesses the same piss and vinegar, the bravery, the intestinal-fortitude, the determination, the never quit attitude, the professionalism, the esprit de corps, and a similar ABOVE THE REST – BASTOGNE -- mindset of 1944 – 1945, and from there to the current era, ABU Troopers have done themselves proud. Their predecessors would surely approve—and would be extremely proud of all ABU's!

ABU! ABOVE THE REST! BASTOGNE! ABU TROOPERS HAVE STOOD IN THE DOOR!
AIR-ASSAULT!
